Internet

Unzählbares Nomen

Definition: a global network of computers that communicate using Internet Protocol (IP) and that use Border Gateway Protocol (BGP) to identify the best paths to route those communications

Übersetzung: Internet

Beispiel: Every day the information on the internet increases.

Synonym(e): world wide web

on the internet

(Chunk)

Übersetzung: im Internet

Beispiel: You won´t believe what I found on the internet yesterday!

virtual reality, virtual realities

Nomen

Definition: a reality that is only computer-based

Übersetzung: virtuelle Realität

Beispiel: Computer games mirror a virtual reality.

browser, browsers

Nomen

Definition: a software component capable of rendering HTML pages and allowing for navigation of HTML links, for example on the Internet

Übersetzung: Browser
There are various free browsers available online.

surf  [sɜːf]  (Verb)

Definition:
to browse the Internet

Übersetzung:
surfen

Beispiel:
The children are not allowed to surf the Internet.

website, websites  [ˈweɪbəz]
(Nomen)

Definition:
a collection of HTML and subordinate documents on the World Wide Web that are typically accessible from the same URL and residing on the same server

Übersetzung:
Internetseite

Beispiel:
Can you tell me the URL of your website?

Synonym(e):
web site

homepage, homepages  [ˈhɑːmpərdʒ]
(Nomen)

Definition:
the main or first page of a web site, typically with hyperlinks to other pages

Übersetzung:
Startseite

Beispiel:
I like the design of the homepage.

link, links  [lɪŋk]
(Nomen)

Definition:
a connection between places, persons, events, or things; shortened form of hyperlink, especially one implemented in HTML

Übersetzung:
Bindung
Link
The link on the page points to the sports scores.

chat, chats  [tʃæt]
(Nomen)
Definition: an exchange of text or voice messages in real time through a computer network, resembling a face-to-face conversation

Übersetzung: Chat

Beispiel: At night, teenagers often meet their friends in a chat.

chat  [tʃæt]
(Verb)
Definition: to exchange text or voice messages in real time through a computer network, as if having a face-to-face conversation

Übersetzung: chatten

Beispiel: She loves to chat with her best friend.

search engine, search engines
(Nomen)
Definition: an application that searches for, and retrieves, data based on some criteria, especially one that searches the Internet for documents containing specified words

Übersetzung: Suchmaschine

Beispiel: Google is a popular search engine.

connection, connections  [ˈkənˈneկʃən]
(Nomen)
Definition: the fact of being connected and having access to a network, usually the Internet

Übersetzung: Verbindung
Example: The Internet connection is really slow because so many people are using it right now.

connect  [kəˈnekt]
Verb
Definition: to join an electrical line to a network
Übersetzung: verbinden
Example: When the technician connects my house, I'll be able to access the internet.
Antonym(e): disconnect

disconnect  [ˈdɪskəˈnekt]
Verb
Definition: to interrupt a connection to a network so it cannot be accessed anymore
Übersetzung: Verbindung abbrechen
Example: The transfer stopped because she was disconnected.

e-mail, e-mails  [ˈiːmɛl]
Nomen
Definition: a message sent via a system for transferring messages from one computer to another, usually via a network
Übersetzung: E-Mail
Example: He sent me his details via e-mail.

e-mail  [ˈiːmɛl]
Verb
Definition: to compose and send an e-mail
Übersetzung: mailen
Example: You haven't e-mailed me in ages!
e-mail address, e-mail addresses

(Nomen)

Definition: a unique identifier of the form user name@domain name specifying a virtual location to which e-mails can be sent

Übersetzung: E-Mail-Adresse

Beispiel: What's your e-mail address?

mailbox, mailboxes  [ˈmeɪbləʊz]

(Nomen)

Definition: a folder or account for the storage of e-mail; an in-box

Übersetzung: elektronischer Briefkasten

Beispiel: The storage capacity of your mailbox is exhausted.

spam  [ˈspæm]

(Unzählbares Nomen)

Definition: any undesired electronic content automatically-generated for commercial purposes

Übersetzung: Werbemüll

Beispiel: I get far too much spam.

send  [ˈsɛnd]

(Verb)

Definition: to make something (such as an object or message) go from one place to another

Übersetzung: senden

Beispiel: I sent a message to you yesterday.